DEPARTMENTS OF THE UNIVERSITY.

□The Courses of Instruction are comprised in four Departments: the Collegiate, Graduate, Fitting School, and Summer School. It is expected that at no distant day a Department of Law will be added.

To be admitted into any department of the University, the applicant must give satisfactory evidence of good moral character and of such attainments as will enable him to prosecute with advantage the course of study.

COLLEGIATE DEPARTMENT.

The Course of Instruction is comprised in eleven Schools, as follows:

1. School of English, including English Philology, English and American Literature, Rhetoric, Elocution, and Anglo-Saxon.

11. School of Greek, including the Greek Language and Literature.

111. School of Latin, including the Latin Language and Literature.

IV. School of Modern Languages, including French, German, Italian, and Spanish, with the Literature of each language.

V. School of Mathematics and Astronomy, including Algebra, Geometry, Plane and Spherical Trigonometry, Analytic Geometry, Differential Calculus, Analytic Mechanics, the History of Mathematics, Astronomy, etc.

VI. School of Chemistry and Biology, including text-book preparation, lectures, and laboratory practice.

VII. School of Physics, including text-book preparation, lectures, and experimental Physics.

VIII. School of Philosophy and Political Economy, including Logic, Psychology, Ethics, Evidences of Christianity, History of Philosophy, and the various branches of Political Economy.

IX. School of History, including Ancient, Mediæval, and Modern History.

X. School of Biblical Literature.

XI. School of Pedagogy, taught by means of text-books, lectures and practice.

Classes.

There are four classes, the Freshman, Sophomore, Junior, and Senior. Although the class system has been adopted in order to secure a better arrangement of both students and studies, as free election of subjects as possible will be allowed; and as the facilities of the University increase, additional electives will be placed in the two higher classes.

Certificates and Degrees.

The Certificates and Degrees of the Collegiate Department are:

A Certificate in each class, conferred upon those who attain the first or second grade at each written examination.

The Degree of Bachelor of Arts (B. A.). For the course leading to this degree, see the schedule in another part of the Bulletin.

The degree of Master of Arts (M. A.). For the course leading to this degree, see Graduate Department.

An average standing of not less than 80 per cent. is required for the two years immediately preceding graduation.

SCHOOL OF ENGLISH.

PROFESSOR GEER.

For the sake of clearness, the work done in this School is arranged in courses, and grouped in three sections: (1) Advanced Grammar, Rhetoric and Composition; (2) Literature; (3) Philology.

Besides the courses outlined below, numerous essays will be required of the Junior and Senior classes; and much collateral reading is demanded of all classes.

1. ADVANCED GRAMMAR.—Freshman Class. Text-Book—Baskervill and Sewell's English Grammar.

2. COMPOSITION AND RHETORIC.—Freshman Class. Text-Book—Herrick and Damon's Composition and Rhetoric.

3. PARAGRAPH-WRITING.—Weekly exercises. Sophomore Class. Text-Book—Scott and Denny's Paragraph-Writing.

4. RHETORIC AND CRITICISM.—Advanced study of the theory of composition. Prose selections analyzed. Three hours Spring term, Junior year.

5. FORENSICS, PRACTICE.—Practical work in composition of orations and digests of arguments. Exercises in the delivery of orations. One hour, Spring term, Senior year.

6. AMERICAN LITERATURE. Freshman Class.—Text-Book—Brander Matthews's Introduction to American Literature.

7. ENGLISH LITERATURE. Sophomore Class.—Text-Books—Halleck's History of English Literature, and critical readings.

8. The course in the Junior and Senior Classes is varied from year to year. The work is largely intensive. The writings of Chaucer, Milton, Shakespeare, Tennyson, Addison, Ruskin, Macaulay, Matthew Arnold, and others, are studied.

Philology.

HISTORY OF THE LANGUAGE Freshman Class.

DEVELOPMENT OF THE ENGLISH LANGUAGE. Sophomore Class.

Elocution.

Throughout the English courses, students will read aloud in class and commit to memory numerous selections from the poets; but that they may acquire a better self-command before an audience, a course one hour a week in Elocution in the Spring term of the Freshman year will be given. The class will use Shoemaker's text-book.

SCHOOL OF GREEK.

PROFESSOR COOK.

A Class for beginners in Greek will meet five times a week and use White's First Greek Book and Moss' First Greek Reader as text-books. Applicants for admission into higher classes may be promoted after an examination or a test of a few weeks in the recitation room. Under no circumstances is it best for a student to be in two classes at the same time.

The authors read in the several classes are Xenophon, Lysias, Homer, Herodotus, Thucydides, Demosthenes, Euripides, Sophocles, Aeschylus, and Plato. Especial attention is given to grammar (text-book, Goodwin), exercises, history, and the customs of the Greeks.

SCHOOL OF LATIN.

DOCTOR MONTAGUE.

PROFESSOR COOK.

In this School instruction is given in the Latin Language and Literature. In all the classes the study of the Latin Grammar, the writing of exercises, original and selected, and sight reading are required. In each class selections from the Latin authors for private reading and examination will be prescribed. Authors: Cicero, Virgil, Livy, Horace, Pliny the Younger, Tacitus, Juvenal, Seneca, Quintilian, and Persius.

SCHOOL OF MODERN LANGUAGES.

PROFESSOR VON FINGERLIN.

GERMAN.

Grammar: Harris or Otis. Readings: Worman's First German Book, Joyner's German Reader, Hauff, Heyse, Noveletten Bibliothek I, Classic authors. Composition.

FRENCH.

Edgren's French Grammar. French Composition. Readings: Worman's Reader, Super's Reader, Horlevy; the leading authors, classic and modern.

Spanish and Italian also are taught when the demand is sufficient.

SCHOOL OF MATHEMATICS AND MECHANICAL PHILOSOPHY.

PROFESSOR JUDSON.

PROFESSOR EARLE.

To enter this School there is required a thorough knowledge of arithmetic, and of algebra through Quadratics, or to Ratio and Proportion.

FRESHMAN CLASS.

ALGEBRA.—The principal subjects discussed after Quadratics, are,

- (a) Series—Expansion, summation, convergency.
- (b) Determinants.

Text-Books—Hall and Knight's Algebra for Colleges and Schools, or Fisher and Schwatt's Elements of Algebra.

PLANE GEOMETRY.—Ancient or Synthetic Geometry; Geometrical Analysis and construction of Problems. Modern Geometry.

Text-Book—Chauvenet's Geometry.

In the Sophomore Class are studied Solid Geometry, Chauvenet; Plane Trigonometry, Crawley; Spherical Trigonometry, same authors; Surveying, Gillespie; Descriptive Geometry, Faunce; General or Symbolical Algebra, Hall and Knight.

In the Junior Class are studied Analytic Geometry, Nichols; Differential and Integral Calculus and their applications, Osborne.

In the Senior Class is studied Astronomy, descriptive and physical, and mathematical and dynamical, Young, and Barlow and Bryan.

SCHOOL OF CHEMISTRY AND BIOLOGY.

PROFESSOR WATSON.

Junior Class: Applied Physiology, Overton; Chemistry, Watson's Experimental Chemistry; Furman University Laboratory Courses. Mineralogy (Elective), Dana

Senior Class: Analytical Chemistry, Furman University Laboratory Manual. General Biology, Parker. Geology, descriptive and theoretical, LeConte, new edition.

SCHOOL OF PHYSICS.

PROFESSOR EARLE.

This School comprises two regular classes, Junior and Senior; also special courses for advanced students. To enter the Junior class the applicant must have completed the Freshman Mathematics, or its equivalent

The course of study for 1901-1902 will be as follows:

JUNIOR CLASS

The work of this class begins with an experimental discussion of the fundamental laws of Statics and Kinetics. Following this the subjects of Sound, Light, Heat, Electricity and Magnetism are carefully studied, the text being amplified by lectures, by a variety of experiments, and by the solution of numerous examples.

Text Book—Carhart's University Physics.

SENIOR CLASS.

The work in this class requires a thorough knowledge of Algebra, Geometry, and Plane Trigonometry.

The subjects studied are :

1. Statics.
2. Dynamics.
3. General Physics.

Text-Books—Loney's Statics; Loney's Elementary Dynamics; Barker's Physics; Cajori's History of Physics.

SCHOOL OF POLITICAL AND SOCIAL SCIENCE.

PROFESSOR MOORE.

SENIOR CLASS

I. ECONOMICS —During the first term of the session, the class studies the science of economics in a comprehensive and thorough manner.

Text-Books—Hadley, Walker, Bullock, Gide and others.

II. CIVICS.—Origin and forms of government, ancient and modern.

Text-Book—Woodrow Wilson's The State.

A course in Sociology is given when a class can be organized of members in the Senior year. Lectures and reference books.

SCHOOL OF PHILOSOPHY.

PROFESSOR MOORE

The course in Philosophy is pursued by the Junior and Senior classes, and includes Logic, Psychology, Ethics, Evidences of Christianity, and History of Philosophy.

JUNIOR CLASS.

I. LOGIC —This course includes a study of the elements of the science of logic, deductive and inductive.

Text-Book—Creighton.

II. PSYCHOLOGY.—A careful, thorough elementary course.

Text-Book—Jame's Briefer Course.

SENIOR CLASS.

I. ETHICS.—Theoretical and practical ethics.

Text-Book—Mackenzie's Manual.

II. EVIDENCES OF CHRISTIANITY.—Theistic studies with lectures.

III. PSYCHOLOGY —A careful and extended study of some special branch of psychology.

IV. HISTORY OF PHILOSOPHY —Ancient, Mediæval and Modern.

Text-Book—Weber and Windelband.

SCHOOL OF HISTORY.

PROFESSOR COOK

PROFESSOR MOORE

PROFESSOR GEER.

Courses in History are conducted by means of text-books, lectures, and individual work upon the part of the student.

The endeavor of the three years' course is to outline the whole period of history, and to give especial attention to the most important periods. A great deal of side reading will be required of the students.

FRESHMAN

First half of the year, History of Eastern Nations and of Greece; second half, History of Rome to 476 A. D,

JUNIOR.

Studies of Mediæval Europe; development of institutions and rise of governments.

SENIOR.

Modern History; Social Movements; Current Topics.

PEDAGOGICS.

DOCTOR MONTAGUE

DOCTOR MOORE.

SUPERINTENDENT HUGHES.

This subject is taught by lectures and practice; and the purpose is so to prepare the student that he will enter upon the work of teaching with appreciation of its methods and aims.

There are three courses, which must be completed by all who apply for certificates: (1) A course given by Professor Moore consisting of a series of lectures, fifteen to twenty, on the philosophy of education; and a course of historical and practical studies of pedagogy from text-books, such as Laurie's "Pre-Christian Education," Compayre's "History of Pedagogy." Attention is given to the rise of European universities. The student is required also to study several important and epoch-making books, such as Rousseau's "Emile," Pestalozzi's "Leonard and Gertrude," Rosmini's "Method in Education," and other works. Essays are required. (2) Another course, in which the subject is presented in a series of lectures by the President. (3) A third course is given by lectures and practice by Professor E. L. Hughes, whose valuable services the University is most fortunate in securing.

SCHOOL OF BIBLICAL LITERATURE.

DOCTOR WINGO.

The study of the English Bible is pursued with a view to securing intelligent familiarity with the history it contains, and with its characteristic teachings. Constant effort is made to have our students see that the Bible is the living word of the living God, and that its teachings and principles have to do with all the varied interests of our present time as truly as with the past.

The course extends through three years, instruction being given in the Freshman, Sophomore, and Junior classes.

OUTLINE OF REQUIREMENTS FOR BACHELOR OF ARTS DEGREE.

The course of study embraces four years. The degree of Bachelor of Arts is granted upon completion of seventy hours of collegiate work; thirty-eight of which are in required studies; nineteen in alternate studies, and thirteen in electives. The number of hours that can be taken in one year is limited to twenty in the Freshman and Sophomore classes, and eighteen and seventeen in the Junior and Senior classes, respectively. By referring to the various schools under the head of Collegiate Department, detailed information may be had as to the scope of the work done in each class.

For convenience the courses of study are arranged below by groups and by classes.

THE GRADUATE DEPARTMENT.

Master of Arts.

In order to afford students who hold the degree of Bachelor of Arts the opportunity to pursue their studies in the subjects for which they have especial aptitude, the degree of Master of Arts is offered under the following conditions:

I. Applicants for the degree of Master of Arts must hold the degree of Bachelor of Arts from Furman University or from some other institution of recognized standing.

II. They must spend at least one academic year at this University, and take fifteen hours of the thirty from electives remaining over and above those required for the degree of Bachelor of Arts. This degree is granted to those only who have graduated from the Schools of Greek, Latin and Mathematics.

III. They shall select their studies with the advice and consent of the Faculty; and for the graduate degree, an average standing of not less than 90 per cent. during the academic year is required.

IV. Applicants shall present at least three weeks before the close of the session theses which shall give evidence of thorough, original work.

Special Courses.

Students who may not wish to take the degree of Master of Arts, but who nevertheless desire to pursue advanced studies in some particular school, will be offered graduate courses, upon the completion of which certificates will be awarded.

The following Schools offer courses leading to the degree of Master of Arts: Greek, Latin, Modern Languages, Mathematics, Physics, and Philosophy.

CHAPEL EXERCISES, 8.40 TO 9.00.

SUMMER LAW SCHOOL.

DOCTOR MOORE, DIRECTOR.

The Summer law courses, June and July, 1901, were conducted by Hon. Joseph A. McCullough, of Greenville, consisting of lectures and recitations on "Pleading and Practice" by Mr. McCullough; "Sale of Personal Property, Negotiable Instruments and Bailments," by Prof. Joseph Daniel Pope of South Carolina College; Course of lectures on Political Economy by Prof. G. B. Moore; and a number of special lectures by distinguished members of the bar of South Carolina. The School is intended to meet especially the wants of lawyers of this State, and hence the Code of South Carolina was given the chief attention. In addition to the courses as stated above, there were moot courts from time to time in which interesting cases were argued by the students.

MATRICULATION.

Applicants for admission will report to the President or the Dean on the day of opening, immediately after their arrival and will sign a declaration that it is their intention to conform strictly to all the laws and regulations of the University. If they have been students in other incorporated institutions, it will be necessary to present certificates of honorable dismissal. They shall then report to the Assistant Treasurer and arrange to his satisfaction as to all college dues. They will then be referred to the Professors in whose classes they purpose to pursue their studies and will be examined by them as to their qualifications. Instead of a written examination at the beginning of the session, the daily recitation may, at the option of the Professor, be taken as the test of preparation.

Students, not candidates for degrees, who desire to pursue special courses in certain Schools, will be admitted, upon the terms given above, to the classes for which they are qualified, and all students pursuing such courses will, unless otherwise ordered by the Faculty, include in their selections at least three distinct Schools, and have not less than fifteen recitations a week.

Students who come from Schools in affiliation with the University, or from other approved institutions, will, upon presentation of certificates of scholarship, be admitted without examination.

No student is allowed to withdraw from a School without the permission of the President and the Professor in charge of the School.

EXAMINATIONS.

The Session is divided into three terms, Fall, Winter, and Spring. At the end of each term examinations are given, and according to the results of these tests, in connection with the daily recitations, it is decided whether a student may be promoted to a higher class.

REPORTS.

Five reports are sent to the parent or guardian during the academic year. These reports give the general conduct and the scholastic standing of the students in recitations and examinations. A prompt acknowledgment of them will be greatly appreciated by the Faculty, who will thus be brought into closer touch with the parents of the students, and the effect will be excellent.

If the standing of a student is unsatisfactory, the President or the Secretary will promptly communicate with his parent or guardian.

PRIZES.

Through the kindness of the Rev. J. F. McMillan and his wife, the Joseph Holliday McMillan medal for excellence in Declamation is annually awarded.

Through the generosity of Mrs. C. L. D. Welling, of Hartford, Connecticut, a prize of ten dollars in gold will be awarded to the graduate who shall be adjudged the best speaker at the annual Commencement,—this honor to be known as the Welling Prize, in memory of the late President Welling, of Washington.

In memory of Mrs. M. C. Montague, the Mildred Columbia

Montague Prize of ten dollars in gold will be awarded to the member of the graduating class who shall write the ablest essay.

PUBLIC WORSHIP. Y. M. C. A.

Devotional exercises, which all of the professors and students are expected to attend, are held daily in the University Chapel.

Meetings of the College Young Men's Christian Association are held on Sunday afternoons throughout the academic year. This organization deserves the warm support of the entire student-body.

In addition to the regular College Bible classes, there are two Bible classes under the direction of the Young Men's Christian Association, taught by the students themselves. These classes meet once a week and pursue regular studies in the Bible. This work is not only instructive and valuable in itself, but it also has an excellent influence upon college life. The interest in religious matters, manifested by the students of the University, deserves cordial commendation and is welcomed with profound pleasure by the management and the friends of the institution. The exemplary conduct of the students has been most creditable to them and gratifying to the Faculty.

THE UNIVERSITY MAGAZINE.

"The Furman Echo," edited and managed by the students of the University, is a monthly journal, published during the academic year. Both the excellence of the magazine and its spirit commend it most strongly to all alumni and friends of the institution. It is hoped that they will give it a liberal support.

BOARD OF MINISTERIAL EDUCATION.

The State Convention of Baptists in South Carolina has appointed a Board whose duty is "to secure and disburse funds in aid of young men pursuing their studies in Collegiate classes of Furman University and in the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary," with reference to the ministry; and it was ordered by the Convention "that before granting aid to any student the Board shall be thoroughly convinced of his qualifications for the ministry and of his call to the work."

Any who desire information in reference to aid, will address Rev. W. J. Langston, D. D., Greenville, S. C.

LITERARY SOCIETIES.

There are two Literary Societies in the University, the ADELPHIAN, and PHILOSOPHIAN, which hold weekly meetings in their respective halls. A number of valuable books have already been collected for their Libraries, which the Societies will be glad to have still further enlarged by donations from their friends.

The Anniversary Debate of the Philosophian and Adelpian Societies will hereafter be held on the second Friday in April.

By action of the Faculty, membership in one or the other of these two societies is made obligatory.

BOARDING.

While some students prefer to board in private families, in which the cost per month is from $12 00 to $15.00, very many students find it both pleasant and convenient to board in the Mess Halls.

The new Dormitory, which will be in charge of Professor B. E. Geer, will offer food and lodging for $7.50 or $8.50 a month. In Mess One board costs about $7.00 a month.

Mess Three will be the Fitting School quarters, and this hall will be in charge of Professor H. C. Haynsworth, Headmaster.

EXPENSES.

College Fees.

Tuition	$50 00
French and German, each.....	5 00
Incidental Fee, paid annually.....	10 00
Laboratory Fee, only for students in Mineralogy.....	2 00
Laboratory Fee, only for students in Chemistry.....	5 00

All College charges are to be paid in advance, one-half at the beginning of the session, and the remainder the first day of February. No amount will be refunded, except in case of protracted sickness. In no case will the incidental fee be refunded.

All students not residents of Greenville will be required to pay three dollars apiece as an Infirmary Fee. The payment of this sum will insure for each student, in case of sickness, the attendance of a physician without additional charge.

Each student is required to deposit two dollars with the Treasurer as a guarantee against damage or destruction of University property. This is refundable at the end of the session.

Incidental, Medical and Contingent Fees are payable before matriculation.

All accounts with the Treasurer must be settled within thirty days after entrance. Board is payable monthly in advance.

Arrangements must be made beforehand with the Treasurer or the President, if any indulgence is wished.

Boarding, Etc.

Besides tuition, there are various other expenses, such as room rent, fuel, lights, washing, text-books, &c., in regard to which the cost depends materially on the arrangements made by each student for himself.

The following estimate is for students not residing in the dormitories:
